Milling in Transit.

For several years the through lines have done what is called a milling-in-transit business. Grain is loaded at one point, taken to the mill and converted into flour or other cereal products and then sent to he seaboard or proposed destination on a has this method of doing business been introduced in the shipment of live stock, and the freight officials of some of the Northwestern lines have been outgeneraled by ome of the stock shippers. Eastern hog myers are scouring the country in search of stock hogs to eat up the immense corn crop of Nebraska, says an Oakesdale corespondent of the Spokesman-Review. The allroads give them a rate of $200 to Chiago, and it is said the car is loaded with stock hogs and shipped to the desired point n Nebraska, where they are unloaded, ostensibly to be fed. After feeding, the car s again loaded, but not with the same hogs. Instead fat hogs are loaded into the car and shipped to Chicago. Thus they get free ransportation from Nebraska to Chicago. One man has shipped 6,000 head of stock hogs from Whitman county in this way, and is now after more.

The board of managers of the Joint Traffic Association is very desirous of having it understood that the 15-cent rate on grain made from Chicago to New York last week was not on corn alone, but inhided all sorts of grain. The general belief among the Western roads was that it was for corn only. This, the Eastern lines ay, is not the case. The 15-cent rate however, applies only to grain intended for export. All grain for home consumption must still pay the old rate of 20 cents.

SUBURBAN AFFAIRS.

The West Indianapolis Council last night attempted to elect a new secretary for the Board of Health. Dr. Benham received three votes and Dr. Wright two votes, but a two-thirds vote of the Council is required to elect, so the matter was postponed until the next meeting. The Council wishes to dispose of the heavy chemical wagon now n use by the fire department, and last night a proposition for a trade was made by a representative of the Extinguisher Manufacturing Company, of Chicago. He offered a combination wagon, with a perfarated steel bed, with a capacity for carying between 800 and 1,000 feet of hose, for the old chemical and a consideration of $1,400. The wagon has also a fifty-gallon chemical tank, carries two fourteen-feet adders, two Babcock extinguishers, and hook poles, etc. The total weight, with tank filled and 1,000 feet of hose on, will be bout 4,000 pounds. The matter was reerred to the proper committee. Treasurer loss reported a balance of $3,150 in the suburb's treasury.

A resolution was adopted instructing the uburb's engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the improving of Harding street south from James street to the south orporation line of the suburb. This street niersects White river at the point where the new bridge is being constructed, and is to be graveled with an eighteen-inch ill in the center sloping to four inches at the curb line. The contract between the city and the Indianapolis Water Company expired Jan. 1, 1897, but the city has six months within which to enter into a new contract or execise the eption of buying the plant. Meantime the old contract remains in force. The bill does not seem to provide for a settlement of controversies as to the valuation of water plants. FOR DEPENDENT CHILDREN. Plan Enabling County Commissioners to Care for Them. The Board of State Charities, it is recalled by a bill introduced yesterday, undertook two years ago to have a bill passed establishing a state home for orphans. In oped a strong opposition to any undertaking to add to the number of state institutions. It also developed that a very creditable home of that kind was being operated at Mishawaka by private charity, augmented to some excent by the financial aid received from the officials of adjoining townships and counties who sent orphans there to be cared for. The bill introduced vorce. Finding against plaintiff; defendant in both houses yesterday is similar in spirit although different in form and operation from that offered two years ago. It provides for county orphan asylums to be established and controlled by the county commissioners. Commissioners are authorized to purchase suitable grounds and buildings n each county, the sum to be expended to be limited to $5,000 where the population of the county does not exceed 20,000, and $1,000 additional for each additional population of 5,000. The commissioners may, if they so elect, enter into contracts with associations established for the purpose of caring for orphans, neglected and abandoned children, but before any compensation may be allowed such associations it is required verified statements shall be filed showing the name and age of every child cared for. The commissioners are to pay 25 cents a day for the care of the children. Such associations are required to receive and care for children under sixteen years of age who have no means of self-support, or who have been neglected and abandoned by their parents. Parents and guardians of children admitted are to relinquish all rights, and if they refuse the bill provides for legal process to this end. Homes are to be secured for children, and they are to be visited until | amended so as to permit the selection of eighteen years of age, that the association may have proof that they are properly cared for. After Jan. 1, 1898, it will be unlawful, under the bill, for any children between the ages of three and seventeen years to be kept in any county poor farm for a longer period than ten days. This, it is said, would result in making it mandatory on commissioners to establish homes or secure the services of societies in each county, as it is claimed there is scarcely a poor farm in the State that does not have children in them. The State Board of Charities is authorized to appoint agents to look after the enforcement of the act, and $4,000

The house committee on county and ownship business last evening gave a hearing to General Packard upon his measure providing for a system of examination of public accounts, and he showed numerous instances of the necessity of such a law, laying particular stress upon the recent developments in DeKalb county. The bill provides that one competent person who shall be a skillful accountant and does not hold any public office and is not the agreement, and it shall be lawful for savings institution, shall be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and Suggestion to the Marion Delegation I desire to call the attention of the Marion county delegation in the Legislature to the fact that under the present law county commissioners are elected from districts which give the country districts in this county two members, while the city of Indianapolis, which pays 80 per cent. of the taxes and, with its suburbs, has 90 per cent. of the population of the county, has but one member. This law should be commissioners from the county at large, as members of the Legislature are elected. It will not be pretended that any business man or corporation with as much business as the county of Marion has would have selected any of the commissioners the country districts have furnished in the last quarter of a century to manage that business. The Marien county delegation can do nothing that will so much affect the business interests of this city as to have a bill passed abolishing the dstricts for the election of commissioners in this county.

CITIZEN. Indianapolis, Jan. 18. Legislative Notes. Representative and Mrs. Packard are located at the Oriental, 281/2 Massachusetts Copies of a building and loan association bill of unknown authorship were distributed in both houses yesterday. Nobody seemed to know from whence they came. Some of the Democratic senators seem to think they have discovered a large-sized bugaboo in the fact that Lieutenant Governor Haggard named the committees himself this time, a privilege which was denied to his predecessor. They even question the validity of such bills as may be passed. They declare Rule 8, adopted by the last Legislature, provides committees shall be appointed by the Senate. Lieutenant Governor Haggard calls attention to the fact that the rules will be amended by the committee having them in charge, besides which his appointments were confirmed by a vote of the Senate. The temperance people of Wayne county are said to be "up in arms" against Speaker Pettit because he overlooked the Hon, E B. Reynolds in making up the committee on temperance. A Hagerstown dispetch says Besides being the best known temperance advocate in the State, he represents a Republican stronghold in the House, and because of these considerations, his friends argue, he should have been given a prom-If the physician changes his residence to | inent place on the committee. Mr. Reynolds had prepared several important amend ments to the present law regulating the sale of liquor, but as this committee is composed he who hopes for temperance legislation, the temperance leaders say, hopes without a cause.
